IMAC's Chief Scientific Officer Discusses the Company's Approach to Treating Pain in Documentary Series Pain Revealed

July 29, 2019

BRENTWOOD, Tenn, July 29, 2019 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- IMAC Holdings, Inc. (Nasdaq: IMAC), a provider of innovative medical advancements and care specializing in regenerative rehabilitation orthopedic treatments without the use of surgery or opioids, announces that Ian White, Ph.D., the Company's chief scientific officer, is featured in Episode 3 of the nine-episode documentary series Pain Revealed. This two-hour episode can be viewed at painrevealed.com and Dr. White's portion starts at 3:25 and continues through 48:35. The series is co-hosted by Dr. Patrick Gentempo, a chiropractor and the founder and CEO of Action Potential Holdings, Inc, and co-founder, CEO and host of Revealed Films, Inc.

In discussing IMAC's unique approach to alleviating pain by treating the underlying condition, Dr. White said, "If you go to the physician with pain, your goal shouldn't be to remove that pain. Pain is not the problem, it's the symptom. Pain is the indication. It's giving us information about where a physician may find the problem, and that is what we do at IMAC."

Matt Wallis, IMAC's chief operating officer, commented, "This documentary series is providing an important public service and has provided additional exposure for IMAC and our non-opioid approach to treatments. We believe that individuals suffering from orthopedic conditions who view this series will be prompted to consider IMAC's treatment approach, including the use of regenerative rehabilitation therapies."
